SET THE STAGE AT LUXURIOUS RETREAT, LAPIS, THE SPA AT FONTAINEBLEAU

(Miami Beach, FL) – Lapis, the Spa at Fontainebleau debuted at the iconic Fontainebleau Miami Beach in April 2009. Designed by renowned architecture and design firm Richardson Sadeki, and inspired by the world's earliest traditional thermal spas, the 40,000 square foot, two-story sanctuary features 30 private treatment rooms in a light, contemporary space with restorative healing water therapies.

To provide the ultimate spa experience, Lapis has evolved the age-old concept of using natural thermal and mineral water therapies to enhance health and well-being. In combining these ancient modalities with cutting-edge technologies, all Lapis treatments confer a range of benefits to stimulate energy, promote anti-aging, provide stress-relief and enhance wellness. The essential elements of traditional thermal spa culture are showcased in rejuvenating Lapis treatments such as the Lapissage, a calming and comforting full body treatment; restoring your soul, balance your emotions and steady your mind. Chakras, the 7 energy centers of the body, are anointed with warm candle oil and massaged with Lapis Lazuli crystals, releasing tension.

The mineral rich waters that are incorporated into Lapis treatments are infused with a red seaweed extract farmed from the coast of Brittany. This particular seaweed survives in extreme environmental conditions and has adapted a protective, UV-resistant membrane to guard from harsh rays and extremely dry conditions during low tide. When absorbed by the skin and hair, the seaweed forms an invisible, long-lasting barrier that acts as a shield from harmful UV rays allowing the skin and hair to retain moisture. The calcium and magnesium in the seaweed helps to repair damage caused by environmental conditions. Guests are encouraged to experience the therapeutic qualities of this mineralized water prior to treatments by exploring Lapis' unique water journeys such as the Path to Relaxation, which begins with a dip in the Immersion Mineral Jet Pool, followed by a plunge in the Energy Deluge Shower, stroll through the 35 foot Elements Rain Tunnel, and concluding with a relaxing float across the 65 foot jetted Essence pool.

Lapis also houses a full service hair salon and nail spa, Lapis Salon, as well as a signature boutique where many of the amenities and products used during treatments are available. Lapis Retail carries the latest and most effective sun, skin and hair care lines, including all natural and organic options. Lapis retail also carries women's day to night apparel, stylish active wear, loungewear, lingerie and gift items such as candles, soaps, perfumes and accessories. Product lines include: BloqUV, Eight + Bob, Kypris, NARS Cosmetics, Phyto, Tata Harper, Voluspa and more.

Spa interiors, treatments and programs have been holistically designed to create an environment that is contemplative, sophisticated and recuperative. Upon entering Lapis, each guest is given a plush robe, pair of slippers and a guide detailing the space's amenities. The spa houses separate lounge and locker areas for women and men as well as communal areas to encourage the social interaction that was once so commonplace in thermal baths. The ladies' area, designed with white marbles, white oak accents and maple floors, is enveloped in soothing hues, which subtly become darker as one moves further into the spa. The ladies' area is outfitted with private lockers and dressing rooms, tranquil lounges with heated baths, deluge showers, custom stone hammams, rain showers and steam rooms – all designed to complement the treatments. The handsome gents' area features rich brown American Walnut wood and darker hued marbles and offers lounges with heated baths, deluge showers and custom hammams. Two larger oceanfront rooms or Duets called Azure and Indigo, are designed for couples or small groups, and are fitted with their own private steam rooms, hot baths and treatment tables. Various a solo sanctuary or social meeting place that revives true spa culture, Lapis provides intimate moments within a quiet collective so guests can experience the healing power of thermal therapies and treatments designed to create positive change.

Fontainebleau's 5,800 square foot, state of the art exercise facility is adjacent to Lapis. The Gym showcases views of the ocean and the hotel's poolscape including the signature Lapidus-inspired bow-tie pool, the gym features Life Fitness cardiovascular equipment complete with personal TV monitors, the latest Cybex weight resistance equipment and a comprehensive selection of free weights. Additional gym highlights include a separate stretching area, a refreshment station and the availability of private training sessions.
